

```
jaime@fedora:~
[jaime@fedora ~]$ cd laboratorio3/
[jaime@fedora laboratorio3]$ cd
[jaime@fedora ~]$ cd laboratorio3/tips/
[jaime@fedora tips]$ cd ..
[jaime@fedora laboratorio3]$ cd /home/jaime
[jaime@fedora ~]$ cd $HOME
[jaime@fedora ~]$ cd $HOME/laboratorio3/tips/
[jaime@fedora tips]$ cd ../practicass/
[jaime@fedora practicas]$ cd /
[jaime@fedora /]$ ls
afs  boot  etc  lib  lost+found  mnt  proc  run  srv  tmp  var bin  dev  home  lib64  media  opt  root  sbin  sys  usr
[jaime@fedora /]$ cd home/
[jaime@fedora home]$ ls
jaime
[jaime@fedora home]$ cd
[jaime@fedora ~]$
```

```
jaime@fedora:~/laboratorio3
[jaime@fedora laboratorio3]$ cat file1
This is the content of the file
[jaime@fedora laboratorio3]$ echo "this content was appended" >> file1
[jaime@fedora laboratorio3]$ cat file1
This is the content of the file
this content was appended
[jaime@fedora laboratorio3]$
```

A terminal window titled "jaime@fedora:~/laboratorio3" with search, menu, and close icons in the title bar. The terminal shows the command `find /home -user aris` being executed. The output is `find: 'aris' is not the name of a known user`. The prompt `[jaime@fedora laboratorio3]$` is followed by a cursor.

```
jaime@fedora:~/laboratorio3
[jaime@fedora laboratorio3]$ find /home -user aris
find: 'aris' is not the name of a known user
[jaime@fedora laboratorio3]$
```

A terminal window titled "jaime@fedora:~/laboratorio3" with search, menu, and close icons in the title bar. The terminal shows the command `grep -i file file1` being executed. The output is `This is the content of the file`, where the word "file" is highlighted in red. The prompt `[jaime@fedora laboratorio3]$` is followed by a cursor.

```
jaime@fedora:~/laboratorio3
[jaime@fedora laboratorio3]$ grep -i file file1
This is the content of the file
[jaime@fedora laboratorio3]$
```

Consideraciones finales

El laboratorio en general resultó un poco confuso debido a no hubo una distinción aparente entre los comandos por realizar como parte del laboratorio y la documentación de los mismos; llevando así a mezclarlos ambos y no saber con certeza qué es lo que se debía realizar como parte de la asignación.